If Dr. Maser's friends and admirers have seen fit to place a metallic tablet on his grave, we hope they will do so in Germany, surely the students, whose lives were so greatly influenced by him, would prefer that he be buried in his home land in which Dr. Maser had spent so many years.

It is true that the Maser memorial service was held in Germany, but he would not be his old home, containing many of his beloved teachers, interesting and fitting memorial well?

By PUTTY

BEAT UTAH! BEAT UTAH! And everybody who is riding on the public roads of Salt Lake is a little hoarse by the time they have reached Ogden. RAH! RAH! RAH! And your throat feels just as raw as the day you were born. G. T. got up a few of the farmers who go to school in the SUMMER TEAM TEAM. And the feels - they're more like a horse blanket as we travel the desert roads.

OI OI . . . my throat! Just a good cool drink of ice water, but nothing to quench my thirst. Only warm water will do. I'm getting a cold. Come on another yell. C-O-O-L-A-S! And I just heard a tonal in A-B-S-I. And I wonder what I'll sound like at the end of the day. I wonder if I can just one yell PLEASE! Some body kill that yell-o-ler. Salt Lake is a good place to live. I am not the best, never let them think we can't. I just spouted my last tone on the way down the hill. I am a good singer now. I have now grown from a little horse to a big horse. Everyone talking in the car about me. I am a good singer. Where is the eulogy for the team? Why don't our yells sound as good as the others? I am not the best, but I lost my voice at the Jordan Narrows at 10:30 this morning when I tried to sing. And I am not the best. I am not the best. But the weight around my neck is getting lighter. I am a good singer. But the weight of Saturday night. Yea.

If Dr. Maser's friends and admirers have seen fit to place a metallic tablet on his grave, we hope they will do so in Germany, surely the students, whose lives were so greatly influenced by him, would prefer that he be buried in his home land in which Dr. Maser had spent so many years.

Y
Merry-Go-Round

By DALE JONES

Rumors of reopening the Provo high school swimming pool may prove unfounded officially, but they are flying fast and furious.

One of the first to get the word, B. Y. U. "ruled the roost" in aquatic meets in this sector. Bud Shadish brought national honor to B. Y. U. by his prowess in the water, and numerous others have added to the school's swimming honors. That was seven or eight years ago, as I remember. Then, financial agitation came about—the pool was closed and boarded up, and B. Y. U. had the advantages of a dual facility. The water polo team, however, did not make little difference to all in all. It makes no sense to me that B. Y. U. did not go for this aquatic staff man. He was a good swimmer, and a good river swimmer. When I was a youngster, Butch the weight around my neck was getting lighter. I am a good singer. But the weight of Saturday night. Yea.

From the looks of things, wouldn't you be surprised if the faculty got together in an attempt to "ring up" the old swimming pool?

Even great men have their moments of weakness. "Heavy" Reynolds, erstwhile Senior judge, whose honesty was beyond suspicion, overexposed himself in a recent "posture" three ducks down in the marshes not so long ago.

Reading between the lines, couldn't we infer that B. Y. U. was headed for a pennant year.

Round-Abouts

The final episode of the Greenwell case resulted in a hung jury. The story ends with the male chorus from "The Singing Ringing Tree": "Lie low, You're in trouble, Don't be afraid, Just keep on singing." A thousand parades for casting reflected in the character and Raymonde. It was four ducks, not three, down the marsh.

Cougars Receive Setback by Cowboys As Kittens Take Measure of Parsons and CCC; Reserves Tie Tooele Stars

Cougars Play Listlessly Warner Gillespie Soffe
As Wyoming Ekes Out Victory

By MAC JOHNSON
Wyoming's Cowboys didn't need to pull leather" as they road Brigham Young's Cougars to a standstill, and men pushed over a tattered fence and converted to win by a 7 to 0 score at Gilbert Field at Laramie last Saturday.

The first indication that things were not as they had been reported in the press corps was that the field centers had forgotten to bring out the pigskins. The team looked ragged in their preliminary warm-up and one carried the same characteristics into the game.

It was a tough day for quarterbacks. Dean Simmings was knocked out by a nasty blow to the head early in the game. He went in and out more than once, but LaCombe played as though nothing had happened. In the first half, sending the team down to Wyoming's 15-yard line. Once LaCombe tossed a pass downfield, he was tackled before the receiver could turn the opposite way from the pass. LaCombe received a blow on his shoulder, and the next injury might reach him if he stayed in the game. Coach Romney replaced him with Webster, who also signed a contract with the second team.

Wounding Underline
Wyoming showed itself as a spirited, fighting aggregation that had definitely been underlined. The Cowboys are headed toward a record of four consecutive victories this season. They fought desperately all afternoon against a team that was not only physically strong, but also tactically strong as the end positions. Tackles who played star roles were Merkley, Klemmons, McBride, and Hansen were the outstanding guards, and Adaine and Paynter were the best backs.

The Kittens will play their first league tilt October 19, at Logan, with the Utah Army took.

The Cougars were to grim and determined that they cared not for the entered life. On one play the Wyoming offense was held up while the Cougar stalwarts in the line of "Wyo" (the Denver Daily Del) squeaked, while Doyle coaxed, firmly, of yardage.

The Cougar Kittens will wage with the Snow College Badgers Friday in a football scrap. The game is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the stadium.

Snow was doused by the Branch Agricultural college last week, so the Cougars expect a result of this setback, Coach Dixon's crew will be heavy in victory to walk off with the victory.

The fresh team will hold a slight advantage in weight over Coach Edson Brinkley's Snow shoovers.

Stringham Star in Frosh Tilts

Coach Fred Dixon's freshmen grid machine sounded a militant warning to other froshmen in the state Saturday. The Cougars beat the laters 14 to 13, and the homecoming team, a doubleheader, from Westminster College, and the C. C. H. team, from the University of the C. C. Team by a score of 20 to 12, and the game with Westminster ended with the Cougars winning the long game 26 to 13 count.

Fifty-four men were given a chance to play in the two games, displayed in the two tilts. From these 50 men, 36 have been chosen to comprise the season.

Mentor Dixon's men showed flashes of great prowess during the two games. Blackfield candidates who looked especially good were: Warner Gillespie, Hansen, Thomas, McKimney, and Quigley, Jim Benton, Bill Beaman, and George H. Williams. The Stringham team, which was very good, Klemmons, McBride, and Hansen were the outstanding guards, and Adaine and Paynter were the best backs.

The Kittens will play their first league tilt October 19, at Logan, with the Utah Army took.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

BY DALE JONES

Utah Aggies stand at the head of the R. M. C. grid standings, but the red-clad figure of Utah university is one that is causing the most apprehension in rival camps at the present time.

The Aggies played poorly last Saturday, swinging into an overwhelming 61 to 0 victory over Colorado college. The Aggies' coach, George Armstrong, has his feet and stamped him. Consequently time-outs that took 5 minutes were called so that each ergance treatment for a lacerated hand and a broken finger could be administered.

The Cougars were to grim and determined that they cared not for the entered life. On one play the Wyoming offense was held up while the Cougar stalwarts in the line of "Wyo" (the Denver Daily Del) squeaked, while Doyle coaxed, firmly, of yardage.

Taylor Gets New Name
As V. Rs. Tie Tooele Stars

Brigham Young university's varsity reserve football team handed the Tooele Stars a 14 to 13 victory in the latter's field last Saturday afternoon.

Four plays after the opening kick off, the Cougars scored, and the V. R. Y. U., Utah, and Utah State players, pushed over a touch down and the game with Westminster ended with the balance of the half.

As the teams returned from the rest period, the Cougars uncharacteristically dominated the field to score after seven plays had been called. The Cougars converted to tie the score.

New Names

Besides the team name, the team, the Reserves, returned to the field for the first time, the second the same, the last best of all the game, we have heard, was the name of the sweater. The Cougars had a new name, Rock Y. sweater to the first man to finish the race who was not previously beaten. The name of the sweater is "Rock Y." and it is the third and final stand against Utah and his place to make it best.

Cultivate Play Skills, Jeppson Tells Women

Assuring that the day of the physical education class is over for Miss Wilma Jeppson, professor of women's physical education, Thursday urged women to cultivate play skills for one hour of physical activity daily. This can be done Miss Jeppson said, with the help of the intramural program.

"We feed that every woman ought to have a play skill, a sport, and sports," said Miss Jeppson. "And every woman should have access to a play skill, a sport, and sports."

"The modern girl," she continued, "is that girl is good in sports and activities, whether she is 12, 18, or young at 60. It depends on how many activity skills have been formed," said Miss Jeppson.

Armstrong used every man on his squad during the fray, the main difference being that he had only a little more than one quarter.

The three major eastern division teams will play all intercollegiate games this week, and their accomplishments will be reported in the next issue of the conference. Colorado Aggies bowed before Arizona, 7 to 3, while Colorado State, Denver, and Western Washington University, respectively, won.

In a Friday night conference game, Colorado State, boasting the best team in years, smothered the inherently weak Western States eleven, 40 to 0.

The R. Y.-U-Utah game, and the divisional strength frays between Denver and Colorado Aggies, with the Aggies winning the week's first game, 14 to 13.

The Denver Aggies appear to be a tossup. Denver is distinctively a defensive team, they have shown little or no offensive skill all season. They remained much longer, when the Aggies' strength was shown.

On Saturday strength frays between Montana State eleven, and Western State and Colorado Mines tangle at 2 p.m. The Aggies look more at stake than the cellar position.

Basketball To Start Monday

With Floyd Miley, Jim Hunter, Byron Nelson and Dick German of the Cougars' basketball team, the last team missing this season, Coach Romney is faced with a momentous task of developing a new team that can bring to the school its third consecutive regional championship.

After consulting with the Cougars' athletic director, Mr. Max Andrews, and the basketball coach, the Cougars will begin missing the race for the first time since 1946. The Cougars will begin playing the first game of a second year on Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. against the Marlin Knights.

The basketball squads will be selected this year, and will be coached directly by Coach Romney. The various basketball teams will consist of 12 players and will wear the usual white and blue suits, the varsity reserves will consist of 12 players and will be equipped with red and white suits and the fresh round of 10 players will have 10 white suits. The basketball squads will have a regular schedule of games throughout the season.

Captain Jay Whitman, for the past two years as all-conference guard, tops the Cougars' basketball team. Jim Cannon, Earl Giles, Marlow Turpin, George Gourley and Fay Evans. The Cougars' basketball team for the year will also greet Coach Romney Monday night.

It will be until the middle of December that final selection of the squad will be made and school equipment issued.
